The use of SSM is governed by these Terms and Conditions, by the corresponding Purchase Order that will reflect what the CUSTOMER has procured and, in the case of certain SSM services or features, by special conditions that, if applicable, will be communicated by SAGE by any means, especially through the Documentation as defined below.

These Terms and Conditions are made available to CUSTOMERS or their Users on the SSM website via the following link <https://www.forcemanager.com/terms-and-conditions/>

The degree of pre-contractual information provided by SAGE is limited by its knowledge of the CUSTOMER's project and its IT infrastructure according to the information provided by the CUSTOMER. The CUSTOMER shall be responsible for the accuracy of the information communicated to SAGE in expressing its needs and acknowledges that it has chosen the Service on the basis of the pre-contractual information provided to it and which it declares to have received.

It is the responsibility of the CUSTOMER to ensure that the Service is adapted to their needs and to ensure that they have the necessary tools and skills to access and use the Service in accordance with its purpose. In particular, the CUSTOMER acknowledge that it is aware of the prerequisites necessary for optimal use of the Service, in order to ensure that the characteristics of its network and equipment comply with them, compliance with the prerequisites described in the Documentation being a sine qua non for its normal operation.

SAGE reserves the right to update these Terms and Conditions and undertakes to inform the CUSTOMER by any means. Continued use of the Service and/or use of the support services after SAGE has notified the CUSTOMER of the change to these Terms and Conditions shall constitute the CUSTOMER's unconditional acceptance of the new Terms and Conditions as notified. The CUSTOMER acknowledges having read these Terms and Conditions or, where applicable, those in force, before purchasing the Service or renewing their subscription.

Use of SSM also implies full acceptance of SAGE's privacy policy, which can be found at the following link: <https://www.forcemanager.com/privacy-policy/>

Finally, in the event that a CUSTOMER purchases SSM through an authorised distributor, these General Terms and Conditions shall apply, with the exception of the conditions relating to payment, invoicing, notifications and technical assistance services which, by virtue of the commercial agreement between the distributor and the CUSTOMER, are not applicable to the CUSTOMER.

The CUSTOMER may only use the Service for the area of use purchased (number of users and modules purchased) and in the form of software as a service (SaaS) for the CUSTOMER's internal needs.

3. SCOPE OF USE.

The CUSTOMER agrees that the maximum number of persons authorised by the CUSTOMER to access and use the software in accordance with the provisions contained in these Terms and Conditions shall not exceed the amount procured in the Purchase Order and that the Users shall keep their IDs and passwords relating to their use of the software confidential.

If the CUSTOMER wishes to expand their scope of use or subscribe to additional modules or users, the CUSTOMER shall pay SAGE the corresponding prices according to the rates established by SAGE on the date of purchase. In case of any extension to the initial scope of use, the Terms and Conditions established herein shall apply.

4. ACCESS AND SECURITY.

The CUSTOMER will receive a name to be used for the purposes of managing the CUSTOMER'S accounts and will be required to create a password on first access. The CUSTOMER is solely responsible for the storage and confidentiality of their username and password and any use of such username and password is irrefutably presumed to be for use of the service by the CUSTOMER. SAGE (directly or through its suppliers) shall manage the maintenance and security of the servers that host its applications and CUSTOMER data, and will adopt measures to protect such information from loss, deterioration, damage, alteration or modification.

Due to the existence of external factors that may influence the provision of the service subject to these Terms and Conditions and over which SAGE cannot exercise any control,

SAGE does not guarantee that the communication and, therefore, the Service subject to these Terms and Conditions, will operate constantly and permanently without delays or interruptions, so SAGE is not liable for any damages and/or loss of profit by the CUSTOMER/Users and/or any other third party that may be harmed as a result of such circumstances.

There is no relationship or association of any kind between SAGE and its website with the owners of other websites to which they are linked, so SAGE and its website are not responsible for the usefulness, reliability, accuracy, or content included in them. They are therefore websites belonging to independent companies without any association or relationship whatsoever.

5. TECHNICAL PROTECTION MEASURES

5.1 Information. The Service may contain technologies designed to anonymously collect information related to use of the Service. This information concerns the devices used to access the Service, the frequency of use and the forms of use (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Usage Data"). The CUSTOMER expressly agrees that SAGE, at its sole discretion, may collect and use this Usage Data to assist in the maintenance and improvement of the Solution. The information obtained by SAGE through these technical devices will also be used by SAGE in the fight against falsification, to identify and prevent any illegal or inappropriate use of the Service.

In the event that the Service is equipped with such a device requiring activation by the CUSTOMER, if necessary, the CUSTOMER agrees to activate this feature via a simple request from SAGE and to provide SAGE with the file containing the information described above.

Any circumvention or attempt to circumvent these technical devices is prohibited and will be penalised in accordance with the legal provisions in force.

5.2 Audit. In addition to SAGE's implementation of the above technical protection measures, the CUSTOMER shall provide a statement, at SAGE's request, to certify the proper use of the Service in accordance with these Terms and Conditions. In the event that the CUSTOMER refuses to activate the aforementioned devices or to provide such a statement, SAGE reserves the right to audit the CUSTOMER's use of the Service, upon reasonable notice.

In the event that SAGE decides to conduct an audit, SAGE shall bear the costs. However, in the event that the audit findings reveal a use that does not comply with the rights acquired by the CUSTOMER:

- The costs of the audit shall be charged to the CUSTOMER.
- In the event that any options, features or users are detected that are not within the scope of the contract signed by the CUSTOMER, SAGE will proceed to invoice the CUSTOMER retroactively to the time when this use began, at double the amount of the rates in force at the time this circumstance was detected.

CUSTOMER information collected during the course of the audit shall be considered confidential information and will only be used for the purpose of the audit and any necessary adjustments to exclude any other use by SAGE.

6. PRICE AND METHOD OF PAYMENT.

6.1 Free trial periods

For those contracts to which initial free trial periods apply, as set out in the Purchase Order, no charge will be made for the duration of the free trial period. If the CUSTOMER decides to cancel the Services before the end of the trial period, no charge will be made.

6.2 Form of payment

All payments shall be made in the manner and in accordance with the amounts indicated in the Purchase Order accepted by the CUSTOMER (hereinafter referred to as the "Purchase Order"). The amounts, once invoiced, shall be payable at the beginning of the period in which the CUSTOMER receives the Services and with the periodicity agreed in the Purchase Order. Payment obligations cannot be cancelled and amounts already paid cannot be reimbursed. Payments must be made regardless of whether or not the CUSTOMER is using the licences purchased.

6.3 Invoices

The CUSTOMER agrees to provide complete and accurate billing and contact information to SAGE. This information includes the company name, current account number, credit card (if applicable) or any other applicable payment method, postal address, email address, name and telephone number of an authorised billing contact, the intra-community VAT identification number (if applicable) and details of the CUSTOMER's manager.

The CUSTOMER undertakes to update this information within ten (10) days of any changes. If the contact information they have provided is false, fraudulent or not current, SAGE reserves the right to terminate their access to the Service and to take any other legal action it deems appropriate.

If the CUSTOMER believes that its invoice is not correct, the CUSTOMER must contact SAGE within seven (7) days of the date of the invoice to jointly review the invoice and, if applicable, receive a rectification.

6.4 Modification of the Services plan

In the event that the CUSTOMER requests an improvement (or upgrade) of its current Services plan, the specific conditions applicable as a consequence of this improvement shall be those established in the Purchase Order and the amount shall be prorated for the remaining period until the duration agreed between SAGE and the CUSTOMER is completed.

The CUSTOMER may not on the other hand request a reduction (or downgrade) of its Services plan during the duration of its current subscription, and this shall only be applicable at the end of this period. A request for a reduction must also be made by sending an email to SAGE at least thirty (30) business days prior to the end of the current subscription term.

6.5 Additional fees

6.5.1 Additional fee for data and file storage

The storage space for data and files that SSM offers free of charge to the CUSTOMER will be as communicated in the Documentation. However, if the amount of disk or file storage required by the CUSTOMER exceeds such limits, SAGE reserves the right to charge the CUSTOMER the fee for the storage actually used. SAGE will attempt to notify the CUSTOMER, to the extent possible, when the average storage used per license reaches about ninety percent (90%) of the stated limit. However, if SAGE fails to notify the CUSTOMER of this situation, the CUSTOMER shall not be relieved of its liability and obligation to pay the additional data and file storage fees.

6.5.2 Additional fee for geolocation services

With respect to the volume of geolocation requests, SAGE shall offer the CUSTOMER the number determined in the Documentation free of charge. If the volume of geolocation requests required by the CUSTOMER exceeds the limits communicated to the CUSTOMER, SAGE reserves the right to charge the CUSTOMER the current fee at that moment. SAGE will attempt to notify the CUSTOMER, to the extent possible, when the average storage used per license reaches about ninety percent (90%) of the stated limit. However, if SAGE fails to notify the CUSTOMER of this situation, the CUSTOMER is not relieved of its liability and obligation to pay the additional data storage fee.

6.6 Prices

In the event that the CUSTOMER exceeds any other limits established in the Services purchased by the CUSTOMER, SAGE reserves the right to charge the CUSTOMER the corresponding fee for any excess.

In each of the Purchase Order sections, the price of the corresponding Service and, where applicable, its billing frequency is indicated. For clarification purposes, it should be noted that the amount indicated as the Price will be the amount that will be invoiced at the indicated frequency; and this amount will not be prorated.

In the case of recurring services, which are renewed periodically, the Price shall be applicable for the duration of the period agreed between SAGE and the CUSTOMER and shall be invoiced at the beginning of the period unless a grace period has been expressly agreed. In the latter case, the first invoice will be issued after the expiry of the Grace Period and will be for the proportional part remaining until the end of the period agreed between SAGE and the CUSTOMER. The CUSTOMER is not entitled to a refund for any of the amounts paid if the CUSTOMER unilaterally withdraws or terminates these Terms and Conditions before the end of the agreed term or any of its extensions.

If the period of these Terms and Conditions is extended after the end of the first period, SAGE may update the prices in subsequent extensions by charging the current fees at that moment.

Failure to pay any amount due to SAGE under these Terms and Conditions shall entitle SAGE to temporarily suspend the provision of the services until this is settled or, in the event that it is not settled, to terminate the contractual relationship with the CUSTOMER immediately and cancel, if applicable, the user licences granted, without prejudice to the right to claim the amounts due and the costs of the claim, as well as the corresponding interest for late payment. In the event of non-payment of recurring services, SAGE may apply penalties if the CUSTOMER requests reactivation of the service.

During the period of suspension, SAGE shall not be obligated to perform its obligations under these Terms and Conditions. In particular, it shall not be obliged to provide updates, answer queries or provide access to software applications.

The CUSTOMER may not make payment conditional on the provision of documents, the signing of purchase orders, conditions applicable to suppliers or the completion of additional formalities by SAGE beyond those expressly derived from the legislation in force.

7. ELECTRONIC INVOICING.

The CUSTOMER expressly agrees that SAGE can only send its invoices to the CUSTOMER in electronic format (PDF).

In this case, the Parties agree that SAGE will send a copy of its invoice to the email address provided by the CUSTOMER. Depending on the SAGE product they have purchased, invoices may also be included, for a limited time, in the Customer Area of its platform. In the event of the termination of this Contract for any reason, the CUSTOMER will no longer have access to its Customer Area. Accordingly, the CUSTOMER must ensure that all its invoices are downloaded before the expiry of this Contract.

In the event that the CUSTOMER has not been able to download its invoices within the allotted time, it can ask SAGE in writing to send a paper copy of the invoices that were stored in its Customer Area.

8. DURATION AND TERMINATION

8.1 Duration of the Services. The duration of each Service shall be as specified in the corresponding Purchase Order. In the event that the Purchase Order does not specify the duration, it shall be understood that the Service has been purchased on an annual basis. Unless otherwise stated in the Purchase Order, the Services shall be automatically extended for additional periods equal to the initial period stated in the Purchase Order (or as otherwise stated in these Terms and Conditions in the absence of any provision in the Purchase Order), unless either Party gives the other Party written notice of at least thirty (30) days prior to the end date of the current period. In the event of an extension, SAGE may update the prices in subsequent extensions by charging the rates in force at any given time.

8.2 Termination for breach. In the event of a breach by one of the Parties of its obligations under this Contract which has not been remedied within thirty (30) days following notification with acknowledgement of receipt of the breach in question, the other Party may terminate the Contract, without prejudice to any damages that may be due. In no case shall this termination have retroactive effects and SAGE shall not therefore reimburse amounts corresponding to payments already made by the CUSTOMER, without prejudice to the possibility of requesting, where appropriate, any damages to which the CUSTOMER is entitled under these Terms and Conditions.

8.3. Termination for non-payment of invoices. Failure to pay any amount due to SAGE under this Contract shall entitle SAGE to temporarily suspend the services or, in the event that it is not paid, to terminate this Contract immediately and to cancel any user licence granted, without prejudice to SAGE's right to reclaim any amounts due and the costs of reclaiming such amounts, including interest for late payment. In the event of non-payment of recurring services, SAGE may apply penalties if the CUSTOMER requests reactivation of the service.

8.4. Consequences of terminating the Service.

Whatever the reason for the conclusion of these Terms and Conditions, on the date of expiry or termination of the contract, the CUSTOMER may not use the SSM Solution in any way or access the relevant platform.

In the event of termination of the Service, SAGE shall provide the CUSTOMER with access to the CUSTOMER'S proprietary data, as well as the ability to request the export of this data for a period of thirty (30) days, and in accordance with the prices established by SAGE and in effect at that time for the performance of the professional services necessary for the exporting.

After thirty (30) days from the date of completion: (i) SAGE shall delete the data in the terms set forth in the Privacy Policy, (ii) each Party shall promptly use reasonable efforts to return or destroy any other Confidential Information belonging to the other Party, if requested, and (iii) shall not exempt the Customer from payment of any unpaid Amounts due and owing to SAGE until the end of the current contractual period or extension.

SAGE may in addition keep data properly blocked for as long as any liability may arise from its relationship with the user under its normal data retention policies and in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

SAGE may terminate a free account at any time without notice at its sole discretion. The CUSTOMER agrees that SAGE shall not be liable to the CUSTOMER or any third party as a result of this cancellation. The CUSTOMER shall be solely responsible for exporting the Free Account Data prior to termination of the CUSTOMER's access to the Free Account for any reason whatsoever.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event that SAGE terminates the free account, at its sole discretion, it shall give the CUSTOMER an opportunity to recover its data in advance under the conditions set out in this clause.

All provisions of these Terms and Conditions, which by their nature are intended to survive termination, shall continue in full force and effect, in particular the provisions relating to warranties and limitations of liability.

9. SUPPORT

Subscription to the Service includes a basic support service provided by SAGE to the CUSTOMER based on the basic technical assistance support service that corresponds to the edition or package that the CUSTOMER has purchased (hereinafter, the "Support Service").

To use the Support Service, the CUSTOMER and the Customer's manager or the User may contact SAGE through the channels provided by sending direct email messages to support@crm.sage.com, or by opening an incident on the SAGE support portal at <https://support.forcemanager.net/> or through the chat available on the website and in the Service application. The channels for contacting Support may be modified at SAGE's discretion, in which case the CUSTOMER will be notified accordingly.

SAGE will address and respond to incidents or queries by sending email messages to the email address and/or by contacting the telephone number that the CUSTOMER or the User has assigned in their User Account, as well as via the chat.

The Support Service is of a corrective nature, focused on the correction of incidents during the operation of the standard product. The standard product is the basic version of the Service common to any customer (hereinafter referred to as the "Standard Solution"). The Support Service does not handle incidents that may occur in customisations to the Standard Solution carried out by SAGE's professional services team or any third party.

SAGE will provide technical support for the two latest approved versions of the Service. SAGE may in addition discontinue parts or versions of the Service after notifying the CUSTOMER, reasonable notice being given to allow the CUSTOMER to adapt to such changes. Discontinuation of a part or version of the Service means that SAGE will not provide support or perform corrective or evolutionary maintenance on this discontinued part or version of the Service.

The CUSTOMER may purchase more advanced support services from SAGE, which shall be subject to these General Terms and Conditions and any applicable Special Conditions.

10. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY.

10.1. Software. SAGE assures the CUSTOMER that it owns the Intellectual Property Rights to the Software and its Documentation, or has authorization from the owner of the Software, and that it may therefore freely grant the CUSTOMER the right of use provided herein.

The granting of the right to use the Software does not imply the transfer of property rights to the benefit of the CUSTOMER. In the event of a breach of these rights and obligations, SAGE is entitled to take any action necessary to put an end to the observed breaches.

Software may include open source software tools or third party libraries. Open source software and/or third party libraries shall be governed by their own terms and conditions and the CUSTOMER shall be subject to the terms and conditions of the relevant licence in relation to the use of such software or libraries. The CUSTOMER agrees not to carry out or allow others to carry out the following actions: (i) adapt, translate or modify the Software/Service; (ii) decrypt, decompile, disassemble, reverse engineer or otherwise attempt to discover the source or object code of the Software/Service, unless any applicable law prohibits such limitations; (iii) copy the Software; (iv) use the Software/Service for high-risk activities; or (v) license, loan, sell, rent or lease the Software/Service or any component thereof.

Except to the extent expressly stated, neither Party shall grant, and the other Party shall not acquire, any right, title or interest including, by way of illustration, any implied license to any Trademarks and Distinctive Signs belonging to the first Party. Any rights not expressly granted shall be deemed not to have been granted. Any use of Customer's Trademarks and Distinctive Signs by SAGE shall be to the benefit of the CUSTOMER and all use of SAGE's Trademarks and Distinctive Signs by the CUSTOMER shall be to the benefit of SAGE. The CUSTOMER shall not infringe or assist others in infringing or registering SAGE's Trademarks and Distinctive Signs, nor shall the CUSTOMER register SAGE Trademarks and Distinctive Signs or domain names that are confusingly similar to SAGE'S Trademarks and Distinctive Signs or domain names.

The parties may cancel each other's right to use their Trademarks and Distinctive Signs in accordance with these Conditions by giving written notice to the other party, who shall immediately cease to use them.

10.3. Training documents. SAGE may grant the CUSTOMER the right to reproduce certain documents that may be provided as part of the training, only in the quantity required for this, provided that it is for the CUSTOMER's own use and only for persons employed by the CUSTOMER.

All training materials delivered before, during and after the provision of services are and remain the property of SAGE. In addition, the CUSTOMER must include all proprietary and/or copyright notices appearing on the documents submitted by SAGE on any copies.

Modifications to the Adaptations and their combination with other software made without SAGE's intervention shall be the sole responsibility of the CUSTOMER.

The CUSTOMER shall refrain from handling the dispute with the third party alleging infringement on its own. In the event that a settlement is agreed between SAGE and the third party alleging infringement, SAGE shall be responsible for the full amount to be paid to the third party.

If SAGE is unable to agree to the above transaction, it shall, under its control and direction, and with the assistance of the CUSTOMER, assume the legal defence to oppose the request of the third party alleging infringement. The CUSTOMER is not allowed to lead the legal defence of the dispute against it by a third party alleging infringement and undertakes to notify SAGE without delay of this circumstance.

In the event that the third party's claim for infringement results in a final court decision, SAGE shall compensate the CUSTOMER for the amount of damages set forth in the judgement, subject to proof of payment to the third party of the amount indicated in the judgement.

The limitation set out above shall not apply in the case of wilful or intentional misconduct.

The provisions of this clause establish an allocation of risk between SAGE and the CUSTOMER. The price of the Service reflects this distribution, as well as the limitation of liability described above.

12.3 Liability of the CUSTOMER in the use of the Service. The CUSTOMER acknowledges that it alone has the ability to control and know the content of the data or information transmitted or hosted on or through the Service.

The Service is designed and developed to operate within the current technological framework. The CUSTOMER acknowledges and accepts that there may be variations or alterations in this technological framework that are beyond the control of SAGE and that may affect the operation of the Service, even to the extent of partially or totally disabling its use, in which case it shall not be understood that there is a breach by SAGE. This decision shall take effect on the day of notification. In any event, no amount paid by the CUSTOMER shall be refunded by SAGE.
